Bethesda, MD (May 9, 2016) – E.J. Krause & Associates and UAVSA (Unmanned Autonomous Vehicle Systems Association) have announced the conference theme “The Drone Business Today” for the 3rd annual International Drone Expo and Business Conference taking place December 9-10 at the Los Angeles Convention Center.

This year’s edition promises to be an important event again for the commercial drone community with over 100 exhibiting companies and 80+ speakers throughout 50 sessions at the business conference, providing a platform for empowering technologies and focusing on next-generation innovation.

The conference and exhibition with its keynotes, workshops, high level seminars and tabletop exercises will identify how drone technology can help facilitate business and improve bottom line performance. The International Drone Expo aims to capture all the most important aspects of the future of unmanned aviation in the ever expanding market of aerial robotics. The event will feature a Drone Fly Cage where the 100+ Drone Expo Exhibitors will provide demonstrations on the newest advances in drone technology.

The conference will take an in-depth look at many important topics in the industry including how the future of UAS is reshaping our individual and professional lives. The broad acceptance of drones across the world has ushered in the fourth stage of the Industrial Revolution, and business and consumer markets are exploding with applications!

To go with the innovative expo and conference, IDE is pleased to announce a diverse, high-level Advisory Board. IDE welcomes Greg Agvent (Senior Director, News Operations, CNN), Chad Colby (Founder and Principal, Colby Ag Tech), Mark A. Dombroff (Partner, Unmanned Aircraft Systems Practice, Dentons), Commander Chris Dunn (Ventura County Sheriff’s Office), Christina Engh (COO, UASolutions Group, Inc. and Army Reserve Blackhawk Pilot), Sally French (Social Media Editor at MarketWatch, Founder, The Drone Girl), Dr. Sylvia Kohn-Rich (The Aerospace Corporation), Leonard Ligon (Unmanned Aircraft Systems (UAS), Airspace Integration, Operations and Logistics, Air Traffic Management (UTM), NASA Ames Research Center), Commander W. David Place (USN RET) (UAS Systems Expert), Colin Snow (CEO/Founder, Skylogic Research (Drone Analyst)), Ellis M. Stanley Sr. (Managing Partner, Ellis Stanley Partners, Chairman, Global Board, International Association of Emergency Managers), G. Bailey Stockdale (Director, Unmanned Agriculture Institute), and Jim Williams (Principal, Dentons’ Public Policy and Regulation) to the 2016 Advisory Board.
